

From The President of the Old Collegians

The Saint Kentigern year is flying past and College students are already preparing for final exams and, for some, the end of their school days. As they prepare to leave, their 'life membership' of the Saint Kentigern Old Collegians Association just begins. We look forward to welcoming this year's graduates at the many events held annually both here in NZ and around the world.

LONDON REUNION

The London Annual Reunion was held in late June to coincide with the College Representative 1st XI Cricket team's UK Tour. London had a brilliant summer this year and during their visit the weather was simply fantastic. I was fortunate to watch the cricket matches at both Eton College and Harrow School, played in magnificent grounds. These were only two of the seven games the College XI played, each at an English private school with a celebrated history. The superb hospitality and friendly welcome from the host parents, the fine weather and the perfect wickets at each school campus certainly will have made this tour a life-long memory for those who were part of the touring team.

After the Eton game, the team attended the SKOCA Reunion Dinner held in St James, all dressed in their formal uniform, and were warmly welcomed by around 50 London based Old Collegians (OCs) in attendance. Several 1950-60 OCs based in the UK also made the effort to attend and support the SKC team at a school closest to their home, and a number I spoke with were clearly proud to be there in support of Saint Kentigern and were impressed with the standard of play.

After 30 years as SKOCA London-Chairperson Danny Gowan has promoted John Shuker (College 1976-1980) to the London-Chair position assisted by Derek Munro, Nigel Catlin and Danny.

1965 1ST XV REUNION

The College 1965 1st XV held a reunion luncheon before the SKC vs AGS rugby match at the Normanby Hotel to which 14 of the original team of 18 attended, as well as their coaches Jack Paine and Ron Stone. Organised by team member, Judge Phil Recordon, it was unfortunate that the team captain, Ross Hynds had passed away the month prior. However, it was special to have Ross's two daughters, Rebekah and Bridie as special guests. The team had beaten AGS 50 years earlier, and following lunch witnessed another fine Saint Kentigern win. It was great to see so many team members reuniting, some for the first time in 50 years at what was a memorable day of Saint Kentigern rugby history. This tradition was started by Don Craig as captain of the 1961 1st XV and is now becoming an annual affair, with William Akel and Don Turner already organising the 1966 team reunion in 2016.

AUSTRALIAN REUNION

The Australian Reunion was held in Sydney in August to coincide with the First Bledisloe Rugby match. A number of OCs made the trip to Sydney from NZ to join the local group for a dinner on the Friday. Past Headmaster Rev. David Williams attended and spoke of his fond memories of his time at Saint Kentigern, and during the roll-call, boys from the 1950's - 2000's recalled both their school number and a memorable incident that had occurred during their years at Saint Kentigern. It is my pleasure to confirm that Scott Beach (1977 College Head Boy) has accepted the position of SKOCA Sydney Chairperson and will be assisted by Regan van Berlo, Rodney Steel and Andrew Clarke (all 2000's) to organise ongoing Australian SKOCA functions.

FAREWELL TO DR HASTIE

I attended the farewell function for Dr Sandra Hastie who left the Girls' School after a total of 20 years teaching at Saint Kentigern. Sandra is the new principal at Tavistock & Summerhill Preparatory School in West Sussex and we wish her and Bruce every success in UK. The farewell was a moving celebration of Sandra's amazing time at Saint Kentigern Girls' School and it was my pleasure as President, on behalf of the SKOCA Committee, to present Dr Hastie with a SKOCA diamond lapel broach and to welcome her as a honorary Old Collegian - and also confirm her attendance at the annual London Reunion Dinner! On behalf of SKOCA, we presented Sandra with an Adrien Jennings' oil painting of the Korinina (Corran) House, to hang in her office in Sussex and remind her of her extended Saint Kentigern family back in NZ.

Please remember to check the SKOCA calendar for the events yet to occur in 2015! We look forward to seeing you there!

Jerome Kaino's Book Launch

A sold-out crowd of more than 200 people were on hand at the College to mark the launch of Jerome Kaino's autobiography 'Jerome Kaino: My Story.' Since he finished at the College in 2001, Jerome has become one of the world's best rugby players, starring for Auckland, the Blues, and the All Blacks. The 2011 World Cup winner chose to stage the launch of his book at the College as a tribute to where his path to being an All Black great began.

The Pipes and Drums of Saint Kentigern welcomed the crowd, before Jerome was given a traditional Saint Kentigern entrance as he was piped onto the stage. He was introduced by the Director of Sport at the College, Martin Piaggi, who fondly remembers Jerome's days as a student. 'My lasting memory will be of Jerome in the 4x100m relay running for Cargill House,' said Mr Piaggi. 'When Jerome ran he had presence. He was tall, he was powerful. He oozed athleticism and expelled an air of confidence. You could tell that Jerome Kaino was born to compete and born to win.'

Jerome was then joined in conversation by renowned journalist and sports commentator Scotty Stevenson. The pair delved into all aspects of Jerome's life, from his early years in American Samoa and then South Auckland, to his time at the College and transition to professional rugby player. Jerome says the College has changed dramatically since he was a student, with the addition of many new buildings. He was part of the first Saint Kentigern 1st XV to win the 1A title, and credited then coach, Tim Connolly as a major influence on him as a player and person. He shared the highlights of his career so far, including the memorable man-of-the-match international debut against the Barbarians and the tense World Cup final victory in 2011.

Following the interview, Jerome took questions from the floor, many of which were centred on the All Blacks' chances in the World Cup. Some lucky youngsters got to take the stage with Jerome to ask their question and receive a signed rugby ball. The night concluded with Jerome giving thanks to those who had helped with the book and its launch. He said it was an honour to be back at the College and host the event here.

Endurance Swimmers!

Five former Boys' School students, Angus Falconer, Calum de Jager, Conor Bradding, Leo Tattersfield and Angus Cleland, displayed extreme endurance in July, taking on a series of open water swimming events in the US, UK, Netherlands and France, including crossing the English Channel, as part of a squad of endurance swimmers! The events were made all the more challenging by the fact that each swim was a non-wetsuit swim!

The preparation started more than two years ago, with each team member entering events such as the State Ocean swims in the non-wetsuit category as well two hour hypothermic tests at St Heliers Beach. As the English Channel swim was in a relay format, the boys were expected to be able to cope with the 14-15 degree water temperatures for an hour at a time. The boys also practised night time swimming with glow sticks attached to their goggles!

The itinerary included open water swims in San Diego and Catalina, a canal swim in Holland and a lake swim in France, but by far the most challenging was the English Channel swim with the boys working in relay. With a 2am start, much of the swimming was in the dark and the first dilemma occurred during Conor's leg as he was brutally swarmed by millions of jellyfish! Had Conor left the water, the attempt would be nullified so he bravely continued on. Late in the swim the current picked up making it hard to move forward but after 10 hours and 36 minutes, it was Conor who finally ran on to the beach and the air horn sounded signalling the end of the mammoth swim. All the boys jumped for joy and hugged each other!

Angus Falconer also swam in a six member team that completed the Catalina Channel swim in California, setting a new U20 record!

Engineering Award for Sarah Neill

Our congratulations to Old Collegian, Sarah Neill who has been awarded 'Outstanding Achievement in Design' at the inaugural Hays NAWIC (National Association of Women in Construction) Excellence Awards. During the awards ceremony in Christchurch, the winners were hailed by the judges as 'courageous leaders who are passionate about changing the construction sector.'

After finishing at the College in 2006, Sarah went on to study a Bachelor of Engineering honours degree at the University of Auckland, majoring in Civil and Environmental Engineering. During her studies, she was lucky enough to undertake her work experience for Fletcher Construction, where she worked on the Eastport Golden Bay Cement buildings project in Quay Street, as well as the Victoria Park Tunnel project. She found this experience invaluable in providing her with a good basis of construction knowledge and general building site practice.

After completing her degree, Sarah started as a graduate structural engineer at Beca in Auckland. Beca is the largest employee-owned engineering consultancy in New Zealand, so has a vast spectrum and depth of engineering knowledge. Sarah found this a great place to start as a new graduate as she was able to learn so much and work on a large range of interesting projects. Her most notable projects to date have been the Men's Correctional Facility at Wiri, which involved the design and construction of 29 buildings within a 17 hectare site in Auckland; the new Park Hyatt hotel in Wynyard Quarter; seismic assessments for Auckland District Health Board and the University of Auckland; as well as a retrofit and a rebuild of damaged buildings in Christchurch.

Sarah says it's great to have a career that is both technically challenging and creative, but also helps to shape our urban landscape and provide a safer built environment.

At the award ceremony it was noted that Sarah's win is a reflection of her outstanding achievement in design and her remarkable progress from graduate to leader in a short space of time. Sarah's referees describe her as a 'superstar graduate'. Her work on the Wiri Correctional Facility project as lead structural engineer demonstrates her considerable talent both as an engineer and a member of a wider delivery team. Sarah shines in her ability to develop relationships. She demonstrates a maturity beyond her years in the way she understand her clients and the importance of delivery.

Rob Kidd

Rob Kidd was Head Boy of the College in 2006 having been a Saint Kentigern student since Year 1, beginning at the Boys' School. He was dedicated to his chosen sport of rowing and is well remembered as a kind young man who embodied the values of Saint Kentigern.

Following graduation, Rob studied for a Bachelor of Commerce in Agricultural Management & Rural Valuation at Lincoln University, and followed this with further study, enrolling for a Masters in Applied Science (Farm Management), graduating with First Class Honours with his final Dissertation in 'How can New Zealand Producers increase the level of fine wool production'.

Throughout university Rob worked in the High Country as a shepherd on 'The Branches Station' in Queenstown and on completing university he began work full time as a shepherd at 'Glenmore Station', Lake Tekapo. Rob says that shepherding is an 'awesome life' and he loved being part of growing the world's best merino wool within an awe-inspiring landscape with magnificent people to match.

Following this, Rob moved to outback Australia, to a million acre station called 'Millungera' in North West Queensland to work for Acton Land and Cattle Co as a Ringer. 'Ringing' is an adrenaline packed life with close calls, great mates and a wild country. After a horse riding accident at the end of the mustering season, Rob returned to New Zealand for some healing and started working at Auckland Meat Processors (AMP). After a stint overseas in Alaska, he returned to New Zealand and returned to AMP where he was employed as the Chiller Department Business Analyst. Since then he has completed NZ Army Reserve Basic Training and returned to work where he is now the AMP Business Analyst across Production and Further Processing.

Joshua Kelly

Old Collegian, Josh Kelly (2009) is forging a promising career from the grounding in music he gained while at the College. Josh went on from Saint Kentigern to study music at Monash University in Melbourne, where he is now based. The saxophone specialist performs as a soloist and in a number of ensembles at events around Australia.

Last year, he was invited to take part in the Australian Art Orchestra's Creative Music Residency in Cairns, and is now studying towards his Honours degree at University of Melbourne's Victorian College of Art. He is also a passionate music teacher, offering lessons in saxophone, clarinet, piano, improvisation, theory and harmony. In his final year at the College, Josh made the most of the music opportunities available to him. He was a member of the Concert Band, Jazz Combo, Stage Band and Saxophone Trio. He won the wind instrument section of the KBB Music Saint Kentigern College Solo Music Competition and was selected to tour with the New Zealand Youth Jazz Orchestra. He returned to the College this term as the special guest at the Jazz Café evening, providing a maestro performance on the saxophone as part of a five-piece band.

Three Saint Kentigern Generations

Saint Kentigern is in the Black family's blood. Neil Black (625) was the first to attend the College, finishing in 1961. He was followed by brothers Graeme (924), William (977), Jim (1102), and Lindsay (2152). All were boarders at Bruce House, with three at one time for a number of years. A second generation followed with Neil's son Charles Black (5142) attending the Boys' School and College. Currently Neil's two granddaughters, Girls' School students, Anna and Jane McKenzie are the third generation to be part of the Saint Kentigern community.

Neil said that recently he had the opportunity to visit Mrs Betty MacFarlan, wife of the first Headmaster. Betty is renowned for recalling many former students and said she remembered Neil's mother clearly after all these years and they reminisced about the sermons Dr Reverend Adam MacFarlan would deliver to the boarders.

Of the five of the original generation, four of the brothers played for the 1st XV Rugby Team. Neil has maintained his sporting connection with the College, having been on winning teams at Old Collegians' Golf and Lawn Bowls tournaments.

At the time the boys were all boarding, Neil recalls his father's jokes. As a truck and trailer load of fat lambs left the farm his father drily commented, 'That's one term's school fees!'

Tom Elmore

Congratulations to Old Collegian, Tom Elmore who recently graduated from the challenging four-year Mechanical Engineering Honours programme at the University of Canterbury. As part of the final year programme, students are required to complete an extensive research and development project, sponsored by some of New Zealand's most interesting companies.

As part of his team project commissioned by New Zealand-based company Myphur Ltd., Tom investigated the effectiveness of a wind turbine design idea. Conventional wind turbines are mounted on a tall tower, meaning a lot of weight has to be hoisted high into the air. In contrast, Myphur's wind turbine idea was to build a hollow tower and place the turbine generator inside. Tom's team carried out an important mechanical engineering project to explore the technical feasibility of a new idea and to estimate its economic viability.

Now graduated, Tom is spending time travelling and working in North America before returning to NZ to pursue his career.

Ian Jarvie

The Jarvie family has had a long association with Saint Kentigern. Ian's brothers, John and Andrew were foundation students at the Boys' School and Ian followed them a year later. All three brothers then went on to the College. Andrew was a prefect and has served as President of the Old Collegians Association and Ian was also on the Old Collegians committee for many years. Their sister, Jane Hollier, joined the College staff as a mathematics teacher for three years and is now a Deputy Head at Strathallen College.

The Saint Kentigern connections don't stop there. The marriage of Andrew's son, Paul to inaugural Head Girl, Jessie Emmerson was the first Saint Kentigern wedding for two Old Collegians. Their young son, George, is the first of a new generation of Jarvies!

Following College, Ian pursued an engineering and then teaching vocation. During a rugby exchange, a discussion with Headmaster at the time, Reverend Adam MacFarlan, resulted in a role for Ian to introduce Technical Drawing to the College in 1982. He spent the next 14 years on the teaching staff before moving on to complete a number of building projects. He says he was then fortunate to rejoin the College for another four years. He later taught mathematics at Auckland Grammar where he stayed for 10 years before retiring.

Ian says he has thoroughly enjoyed the extended Saint Kentigern family being a major part of his life. Through a very good friend and current teacher, Chris Duncan, and many other colleagues, he is still fortunate to often be included in numerous College outdoor activities. He is very grateful to have had the privilege to teach and be associated with two great schools.

School sport always played a major role in Ian's life. Following retirement, he found he missed the activity and involvement and so took on the opportunity to volunteer as a Rugby referee. He says that at 60 years old, the body objects a bit – but while he may be past his 'best-before' date, he's definitely not reached his 'use-by date' and he certainly finds the refereeing more exciting than a gym treadmill! This information all came to light when Ian was spotted refereeing a game between the Boys' School and King's!

Albert Vete

Albert Vete is well remembered from his time at Saint Kentigern for making the most of every opportunity. He was a stalwart of the 1st XV Rugby team but was also equally at home on the stage in dance productions, notably the Fia Fia and Stage Challenge. During Term 3, the College was pleased to welcome Albert back as a student teacher. Albert is in his final year of studying to be Physical Education teacher at University of Auckland, alongside his commitments as a player for the NZ Warriors. Albert recently signed a new two-year deal at the Warriors to keep him at the NRL franchise until the end of 2017. He also made his senior international debut this year, representing Tonga in a test against Samoa in Australia. His Bachelor of Education degree is preparing him for life after rugby league and we wish him well with his studies and sporting pursuits.

Gold Duke of Edinburgh Hillary Award Ceremony

Taking on the Duke of Edinburgh Gold Award is a huge commitment in time during the final year at College and such are the requirements of the Award, most students achieve gold status after leaving school. Twenty nine of our 2014 graduates have gone on to receive their Gold Award with those who were able, attending the ceremony held at the Boys' School where their awards were presented by Sarah Hillary, daughter of Sir Edmund Hillary.

Gold Award Recipients:

Scott Allright, Callum Andrews, Hannah Ashby, Alice Boyd, Ashley Chan, Georgia Clapp, Ishara Dhambagolla, Sophie Dodd, Lucy Eden, April Finni, Rachel Goldstine, Daniel Greer, Jacob Latham, Jasmine Louie, Aimee McMaster, Sam Morris, Yitian Pang, Louis Panszczyk, Courtney Rowse, Rachel Smith, Mena Vaimasenuu, Shuo Yang.

In Memoriam

We express our condolences to the families of these Old Collegians who passed away recently.

ROSS HYNDNS

An Old Collegian who proudly embodied the strong values of Saint Kentigern passed away in June. David Ross Hynds attended the College from 1961 to 1965 and had an impressive record on the sports fields. He excelled in athletics and held the College long jump record for 19 years. His foremost passion was rugby, and captained the First XV. A natural leader, Ross, as he was known, was also a College prefect and Head Boy of Bruce House.

At age 22, Ross was involved in a car accident which left him a quadriplegic. His competitive spirit and athletic ability endured, and he went on to become a successful sportsman on the national and international stage. From 1970, he attended 31 consecutive National Disabled Championships, competing in 15 events and setting a number of New Zealand records.

He was vice-captain of the NZ team for the 1974 Commonwealth Paraplegic Games, winning gold in the shot put, discus, javelin and slalom and setting a world record in the discus. Having returned to Tauranga where he was born, he was named Bay of Plenty's sportsman of the year in 1974. At the 1976 Paralympics in Toronto, he was a finalist in the shot put, javelin and discus, in which he won a bronze medal. He attended three further Paralympics, adding three more medals to his tally.

In 1991, he was a member of inaugural NZ wheelchair rugby team, and was part of the NZ Paraplegic sailing team from 1988 to 1998, which embarked on iconic expeditions around the world including on the River Nile and a circumnavigation of Samoa. As well as being a competitor, Ross contributed to sport as long-time official and administrator for able-bodied and disabled events including the 1990 Commonwealth Games in Auckland. He is the recipient of service honours from a variety of organisations in the sporting and disabled communities.

What a magnificent record by one who endured huge personal setbacks, yet through fierce determination succeeded and achieved so much. As well as at his funeral, Ross was remembered at a special lunch in July to mark the 50th anniversary of when he led Saint Kentigern's First XV to its first victory over Auckland Grammar.

REV BRIAN RAYMOND BRANDON

Brian Brandon was a boarder at Bruce House and attended the College from 1957 to 1960.

Brian trained initially as a horticulturist at Massey University and worked as a Department of Agriculture Horticultural Advisory Office and later in Papua New Guinea as Horticulturist at the Christian Leaders Training College.

After training in Dunedin as a Presbyterian Minister, Brian worked in parishes in Wellington and South Auckland, being Minister at St Martin's, Papatoetoe from 1990 until his retirement in 2008. He also had a leadership role in a number of other Christian organisations.

He was Moderator of the Presbytery of South Auckland in 2001 and 2002. Brian's son Derek is also an Old Collegian.

GRAHAM LOGAN MCCLENNAN

Graham McClelland attended Saint Kentigern College from 1970 to 1974. A boarder at Bruce House, Graham was a fine sportsman involved in his final year in Athletics where he held the College record in Triple Jump and represented the College at the North Island Championships; in Rugby where he played side-row for the First XV; in Team 1 Basketball; and in Senior A Volleyball. Graham was also a College Prefect in 1974.

In adult life, Graham had a long and courageous battle with Multiple Sclerosis, passing away in Auckland Hospital in May this year. His wife died some years ago. Graham's son Matthew is also an Old Collegian.

RICHARD (DICK) STEVENSON STOREY

One of the first students at Saint Kentigern College passed away in September.

Dick Storey #20 attended the College from its inception until 1956 and was also a foundation boarder at Bruce House when it opened in 1954. His large funeral at Te Kauwhata was attended by a good number of Old Collegians including those of the foundation years.

Dick Storey for much of his working life was a farmer in the Taniwha – Waerenga district where he was an enthusiastic contributor to the community life, particularly in his involvement in the Lions Club. Dick was married to Jacqueline for 52 years. Their two sons Shane #4362 and Ian #4510 are also Old Collegians, as is Dick's brother Geoffrey #103.

ALISTAIR WHITELAW

Mr Alastair Whitelaw, a teacher at the College from 1962 to 1969, passed away in July 2015 at the age of 83. A large congregation attended his funeral at St Luke's Presbyterian Church in Remuera.

The College Magazine of 1969 remarks on some aspects of his time at Saint Kentigern:

...his work as a conscientious Form Master – keenly interested in the welfare of all boys under his charge. His supervision of the rowing – an arduous and time consuming task – has also endeared him to many boys in the College. He took a keen interest in the dramatic work of the College and gave invaluable help and encouragement in the rehearsal and preparation of performance. He was also editor of the College magazine for several years.

Like his friend and colleague, the late Rev Neil Dow, Alastair Whitelaw was one of a small group of teachers from a Presbyterian background who had a formative influence on the direction of a new College under the leadership of its founding headmaster, the Rev Adam MacFarlan. Alastair brought his Christian integrity, his sense of scholarship from his own studies in New Zealand and at Oxford University, his willingness to get involved and lead in areas of co-curricular involvement like rowing where he became master in charge, and his energy to get things going.

After his time at Saint Kentigern, Mr Whitelaw went overseas and later became a teacher and Housemaster of St John's House at King's College until his retirement.

In 2008 the Saint Kentigern Rowing Club named a new rowing skiff in his honour. Those who knew him well also remember Alastair as a man of generosity, kindness, character and integrity.

RODERICK ORMISTON WHATMOUGH

Roderick Whatmough (known as Rory) was a boarder at Bruce House from 1956 to 1958. He passed away in Whangarei in July this year.
